Let’s Read! Primary 1 programme was developed by a large group of educators and experts under the leadership of the Nigerian Educational Research and Development Council (NERDC) and the USAID-funded Northern Education Initiative Plus. Professor Ismail Junaidu, the Executive Secretary of NERDC, supported the programme from the initial stages through to completion. Denise O’Toole and Dr. Nura Ibrahim from the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) provided guidance and valuable advice at all stages of the materials development. Under the able leadership of Dr. Jordene Hale and Nurudeen Lawal, these materials were completed. Dr. Mark Hamilton, Dr. Nancy Clark Chiarelli, Lydia Ezihe Onuoha, Mary Sugrue and Joy du Plessis provided technical expertise on reading. Expert graphic design of the materials was in the hands of Godwin Ondoma and Samson Lawrence. John Akanbi Nhorj, Mustapha Bulama, John Mutum, Aliyu Mustapha and Uche Idu illustrated the materials.

Once upon a time,
there was a village on
top of a mountain.

There were no trees on
the mountain.

One night a strong wind
blew on the mountain.

It blew all night.

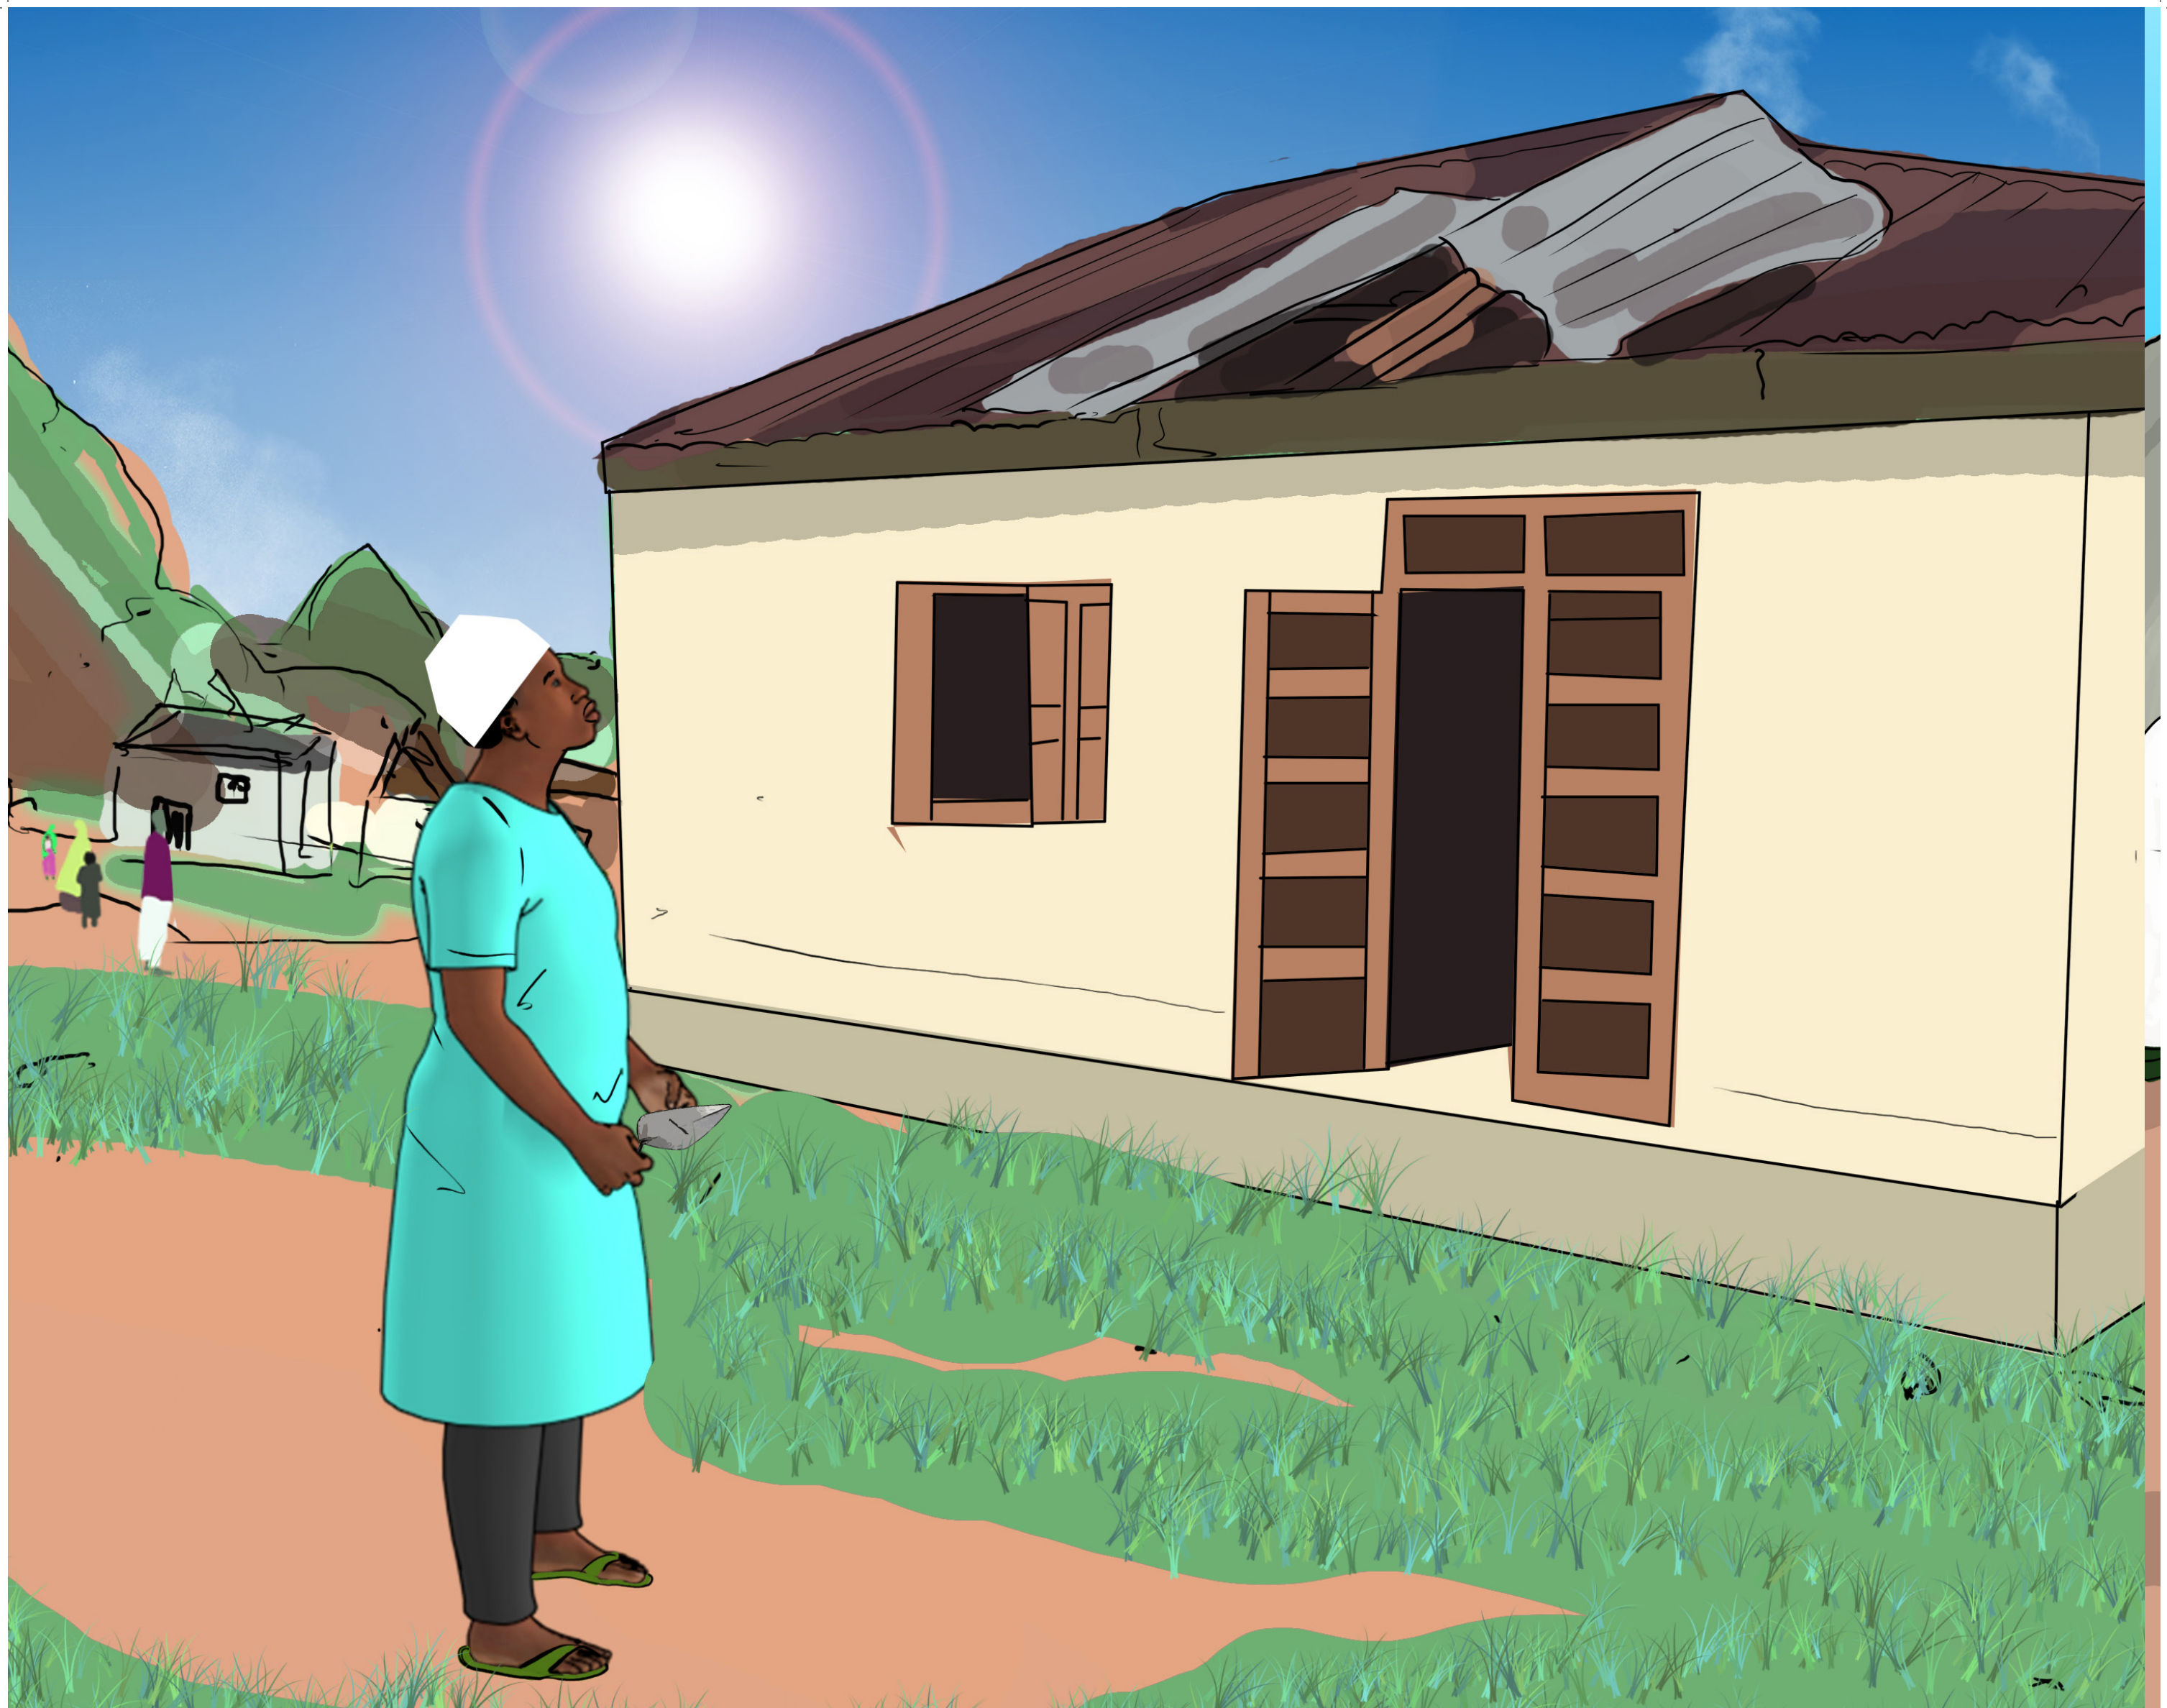

When the sun came up,
the people came outside.

“The wind blew the
roof from my house!”
said the carpenter.

“The wind blew the
roof from the school!”
said the teacher.

“The wind blew the roof from my house!” said the builder.

The school children
watched the people shouting.

The children made
a plan.

“Let us bring seedlings to grow on the mountain!”
the children said.

The children gave the seedlings water. The sun made them grow tall and strong.

Soon there were many trees on the mountain.

One night a strong wind blew on the mountain.

It blew all night.

When the sun came up,
the people of the village
came outside.

“My house has a roof!”
said the carpenter.

“The school has a roof!”
said the teacher.

“My house has a roof!”
said the builder.

“Trees are good,”
said the people.

“Trees are good!”
shouted the school
children.
